NOTICE: ORCAA Approves McKinley Paper's Proposed Mill Modifications

Dear Concerned Citizen:

Thank you for your interest in air quality and the potential air implications of McKinley Paper's proposal to modify their recycle paper mill in Port Angeles. McKinley's proposal triggered review and approval of a Notice of Construction (NOC) air permit through ORCAA. Acting as the Hearings Officer for ORCAA on this case, and after consideration of ORCAA staff's recommendations and all public comments received, my final determination is to approve McKinley's NOC application subject to specific Conditions of Approval.

The Approval Order for this case and ORCAA's responses to comments are enclosed and will be posted on ORCAA's website at www.orcaa.org along with ORCAA's Final Determination. If you have any objection to ORCAA's Approval Order, an appeal may be filed with the Washington Pollution Control Hearings Board (PCHB) and ORCAA. Appeals must be filed within thirty (30) days of receipt of this notice to the PCHB and a copy served to ORCAA in accordance with Chapter 371-08 of the Washington Administrative Code (WAC). Filing of an appeal does not stay (stop) the effectiveness of the Approval Orders.

If you have any questions regarding ORCAA's Final Determination on this case, please call Mark Goodin from my staff at (360) 539-7610 extension 108.

Sincerely,

Francea McNair, ORCAA Executive Director
